The AI Triad: Inputs to AI Development

Human capital

Data
The raw material upon which AI models are trained.

Algorithms
Software that leverages computing power to process data and generate model weights.

Compute
The computing power (from the associated hardware and software) that powers AI training.

AI Development